1. Introduction

This module builds on the Creative Research 1 module by introducing learners to a range of creative research methods specific to design for a circular economy. Learners refine, practice and apply these methods to inform and underpin their ongoing creative practice. With an emphasis on applied research, findings are translated into actionable creative propositions which challenge the learner to test the potential impact and role of creative research within their practice.

2. What will I learn?

On successful completion of this module learners will be able to:

1. PROJECT MANAGE: Undertake creative research using appropriate management skills, including tutorial attendance, participation and timely project submission.
2. INVESTIGATE: Apply a variety of practical and theoretical methods to demonstrate an investigation of creative research themes.
3. DISTINGUISH: Demonstrate the critical consideration of the range of issues influencing their creative primary and secondary research process.
4. SELECT: Show an ability to select research themes and directions appropriate to specific projects and lines of enquiry.

3. How will I learn?

Students will learn through a combination of set activities within the programme studio and/or base room, and self-directed study within and outside the college.

10. How will I have the chance to evaluate the module?

It is important to NCAD that students inform the development of teaching and learning at NCAD. We encourage all students to communicate their concerns and their observations about their study to members of staff so that any changes can be made in a timely manner.

About two-thirds of the way through the year, a student forum will be convened to gather students' comments about their study and the delivery of the programme. In addition, at the end of Trimester 2, students have the opportunity to complete an online evaluation of their study and experience at NCAD. These evaluation events are important to current and future students, to ensure we can enhance the delivery of programmes at NCAD.

In addition, you are invited to discuss your experience on the module with your lecturers at any point during the year. You can also relay your comments to the class student representative who will communicate your comments to the staff.
